PRIORITISE PROTECTION

WHITE GROUT WORRIES?

The easy-care finishing touch you need for kitchens, bathrooms and laundries

White on white tiles and grout have been used in wet areas for what seems like forever. There is no denying the popularity of this classic combination and it doesn't look like the trend is going anywhere in a hurry.

Wondering how that statement Kit Kat-tile splashback with all those grout lines is going to stand up to repeated splatter from the stove? That's where EnduroShield will help.

EnduroShield is a protective, easy-clean coating that helps repel water and oil-based stains, ensuring surfaces stay cleaner for longer. This low-maintenance, highly durable protection, when applied directly to tiles and grout lines in the kitchen, bathroom or laundry, means your whites will stay that way no matter what is thrown at them.

Both designers and homeowners swear by it. This testimonial, from @buildingouraston on Instagram, is just one of many: "I often get questions about our white tiles and about the white grout ... is it annoying to clean, does it stain? And I always reply with the same thing, NO, no need to worry when you've sealed them with the best home tile and grout treatment by EnduroShield!" (Disclaimer: I only ever share products I love and swear by.)

There is an ever-changing range of beautiful tile products to choose from for inside your home. With so many choices and decisions to make when building or renovating, it is often the finishing touches that can be overlooked. No matter what tile choice or colour you go for, prioritise protection to keep your investment looking as good as the day it is installed.

EnduroShield has dedicated surface-specific protection available for glass, tile, grout and stainless-steel surfaces, available in a simple DIY kit or as a professional service.
